Big 2 A-Test Proposal Gets Red Brushoff

Russia Again Calls For Ban, Rejects Japanese Protest

MOSCOW, March 26 (AP)—Soviet Russia today gave the brushoff to the Bermuda plan to give advance notice on atomic test explosions and to invite international observation of the experiments. But Leonid F. Ilyichev, Foreign Ministry press chief, stopped short of outright rejection of the proposal made by President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Macmillan.

He said Russia favored a "radical solution"—outright prohibition of nuclear tests—rather than "roundabout methods."

Japanese Protest Rejected
The position thus appeared to be the usual East-West standoff—with Russia wanting a simple agreement to stop testing bombs, the West contending a paper agreement would be useless in the absence of a broader disarmament agreement or means to enforce it.

Ilyichev at the same time rejected, in effect, a Japanese note asking that Russia's atomic test explosions be suspended. Without a big power agreement to end tests, he said, the Soviet Union would have to continue perfecting its weapons, including nuclear weapons, in the interest of its own security.

Britain Also Rebuffs Tokyo
Thus Russia and Britain on the same day turned down Japan's protests. Macmillan's government announced in London that it had rejected Tokyo's fourth protest in three weeks against a series of H-bomb tests scheduled to begin any time now at Christmas Island in the Pacific, 4,000 miles from Japan. The British reply said the tests were "in the interest of the free world."

The Japanese Foreign Office announced on March 11 that it had asked Russia for the first time to halt her tests.

Last Sunday Macmillan and Eisenhower in their communique on the Bermuda talks said it was their intention to conduct nuclear tests in such a way as to prevent "world radiation from rising to more than a small fraction of the levels that might be hazardous."

Three Killed In Plane Crash

ROANOKE, Va., March 26 (AP)—Three Pittsburgh area businessmen returning home from a Havana vacation were killed today when their private plane crashed while attempting to land at Woodrum Field here.

Witnesses looked on in horror as the plane fell out of a sharp, low altitude turn at the north end of the airport, narrowly missing a Piedmont Airlines plane waiting to take off.

Killed were: John Raymond, 44, Pittsburgh, who is believed to have been flying the plane. Edward T. Albert, 43, Pittsburgh. Donald R. Scholter, 40, McKeesport, Pa.

Two members of the Piedmont Airlines crew grabbed fire extinguishers from the waiting airliner and raced to the burning airplane. They were able to get Al Albert and Scholter's mangled bodies out.

The two who dashed to the plane and risked their lives were Co-pilot T. M. Goodson and purser R. E. Fuqua, both from Winston-Salem, N. C.

McClellan Asks, Beck Listens

Dave Beck of the Teamsters Union (right) listens to a question during interrogation yesterday by members of the special Senate rackets investigation committee. At left, Chairman John McClellan (D-Ark.) of the probe committee questions Beck about checks he said bore Beck's signature, Beck, who took refuge in the protective folds of the Fifth Amendment, declined to identify the signature on the checks on the grounds that to do so might tend to incriminate him. Blizzard Over But Death Toll Mounts To 34

(By The Associated Press)

The staggering toll of damage and death left across the snow-laden Great Plains by a hit-and-run spring blizzard over the weekend mounted Tuesday as the storm blew itself out in the Ohio Valley.

Nine states counted 34 dead, including seven from exposure, six from carbon monoxide poisoning, two from fire, four from exertion and 15 in traffic accidents.

The breakdown by states: Texas 7, Illinois 7, Oklahoma 5, Kansas 5, Nebraska 3, Indiana 3, Missouri 2, New Mexico 1, Iowa 1.

30-Foot Snowdrifts
Meanwhile, the Panhandles of Texas and Oklahoma, eastern New Mexico and Colorado, western Kansas and Nebraska dug themselves out of snowdrifts which reached 30 feet in places.

Highway and rail traffic, brought to a dead-stop by the sudden storm, started to move again. Near normal rail service was expected by tomorrow.

The task of rescue and repair was vast. Volunteer workers pitched in. Acts of mercy during and after the storm were legion.

7,000 Travelers Stranded
Small towns, snowed in and without power and water in some cases, welcomed the storm refugees, many of them passengers of stranded buses. Farmers took in wandering motorists who had abandoned their stalled cars.

Rescuers estimated at least 7,500 travelers were stranded.

Highway and rescue crews worked around the clock to free isolated communities and homes. Disrupted telephone and power lines were patched, and roads cleared of snow. Some storm dead were found under it.

Rail Tunnel Blast

TEHRAN, March 26 (AP)—Ten runaway gasoline cars exploded in a railway tunnel today killing three railroadmen.

A missing West Point cadet was found today in a sealed boxcar in the Jersey City, N. J., yards of the Erie Railroad. He had lived eight days on the car's contents—raw potatoes.

The youth, Jerome Lee Gibbons, 18, a plebe from Fulton, N. Y., lost 15 pounds while trapped in the car. Returned here and hospitalized at the U. S. Military Academy, he was reported weak physically, but mentally alert.

A doctor in Jersey City who examined him said he was dehydrated—that is, dried out for lack of water. The only water he had during his imprisonment was that contained in the potatoes themselves.

Elvis Has Novel Ideas On Decor For New Home

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 26 (AP)—Singer Elvis Presley turned interior decorator today and came up with some strong ideas on how that $100,000 mansion he's buying will be done over.

For instance, his own bedroom: "I want the darkest blue there is for my room—with a mirror that will cover one side of the room. I probably will have a black bedroom suite, trimmed in white leather, with a white rug."

The entrance hall, the rock 'n' roll idol said, will be decorated with a sky effect—tiny lights for stars and clouds painted on the ceiling.

Presley, over the mild objections of his mother, has ordered purple walls with gold trim for the living room, dining room, and sun room. There will be white corduroy drapes.

Plans for the home also include a swimming pool with a large sunken patio leading to the pool.

Presley And Marine Settle Differences
MEMPHIS, March 26 (AP)—Singer Elvis Presley and the Marine he drew a toy pistol on patched up their differences today.

Presley and Pvt. Hershel Nixon, 18, St. Louis, emerged from a private conference in a city judge's office and announced that "everything has been straightened out."

"It was all a misunderstanding," Presley said. "We're both sorry it happened."

The conference was arranged by Judge Beverly Boushe who said it was set up at the request of "somebody" at the Memphis Naval Air Station where the Marine has been stationed.

Presley said he drew a prop pistol last Friday night after Nixon tried to pick a fight with him.

Nixon, who filed no formal complaint, said he thought the gun was real. He denied he tried to start a fight.

Stolen Dinosaur Egg Returned By Thief
HAMILTON, N. Y., March 26 (AP)—A dinosaur egg was back on display at Colgate University today after a fuss that must have rivaled the one the mother dinosaur made when she laid it on the Gobi Desert 70 million years ago.

State police reported that the egg, insured for $10,000, was stolen from the Colgate Museum Friday night.

It was found on the lawn of a Hamilton church last night after Dean Carl A. Kallgren was told in an anonymous telephone call where it might be found.

The egg, discovered in 1923, is one of three known to exist.

Salk Vaccine Hailed
GENEVA, Switzerland, March 26 (AP)—The World Health Organization said today the Salk polio vaccine is "the most dramatic advance in recent years" in the fight against human disease.

Moves To Trim Budget Inspire Talk Of Tax Cut

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP)—Congressional moves to whittle President Eisenhower's record peacetime budget inspired talk today of a possible income tax cut—perhaps as soon as Jan. 1.

Democrats were said to be considering a political "coup" that would put them ahead of the Republicans in proposing tax cuts for 1958—a congressional election year.

But no sooner did this report gain currency than House Republicans met in conference and pledged to reduce taxes "as soon as practicable."

Big Question—How Soon?
Lawmakers of both parties, already trying to achieve hefty cuts in Eisenhower's $71,800,000,000 spending program, were counting on economy efforts to swell the budget surplus and make lower taxes possible.

But the big question was how soon tax relief might be granted. The answer hinges in large part on what Congress does with Eisenhower's budget for the 1958 bookkeeping year that begins July 1.

Eisenhower told GOP congressional leaders today he would welcome any budget cuts that would not do "damage to the vital interests of the country."

Reported By Knowland
Senate GOP Leader Knowland of California reported this to newsmen after the Republican lawmakers held their weekly conference with the President.

Sitting in at the two-hour session, which also dealt with other legislative matters, were Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey and Budget Director Percival Brundage.

Congressional Democrats were said to be hopeful that budget chopping will give them a chance to propose an income tax cut that would go into effect Jan. 1.

Canada And Britain Make Uranium Deal
TUCKER'S TOWN, Bermuda, March 26 (AP)—Canada today promised to sell Britain 115 million dollars worth of uranium in the next five years for what Prime Minister Macmillan called "a very bold program of nuclear expansion."

The uranium transaction was announced in a communique at the windup of a two-day British-Canadian conference in the wake of Macmillan's meetings here with President Eisenhower last week.

Dag Will Fly Back To U.S. With Terms

CAIRO, March 26 (AP)—U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld is flying back to New York tomorrow with a modified Egyptian plan for operation of the Suez Canal.

A reliable informant said the plan "won't please everyone but it should be acceptable to the United States."

Informed sources said Hammarskjöld had "ameliorated" President Nasser's original plan in his intensive talks here. The plan was not made public officially. But Egypt's Foreign Minister Mahmoud Fawzi gave details of it to U.S., Soviet, Yugoslav, Jordanian, Syrian and Saudi Arabian diplomats during the afternoon.

Dag Makes No Agreement
The sources said Hammarskjöld made no agreement with Nasser on the canal plan nor did he give it his personal okay "because it is not the secretary general's business to do those things."

But they said Hammarskjöld persuaded the Egyptian president to improve the plan to make it more acceptable to the West.

"Hammarskjöld had to get the best possible plan out of a bad situation," these informants said. "Now he will carry the plan to interested parties at the United Nations."

Because the canal may be open in two weeks, his job centered on drawing up a relatively simple workable plan to meet immediate needs, they said. Other problems will be met as they arise.

Diplomatic circles and Egyptian and U.N. sources said the "ameliorated" Nasser canal plan shapes up as follows:

1. Egyptian authorities will collect all canal tolls.

2. A fixed percentage will be deposited in a separate account for use by the U.N. Technical Assistance Board to maintain and develop the canal. One press report here said this would be 25 per cent.

Another percentage, estimated by one source at 5 per cent, will be placed in escrow for settlement of compensation claims by shareholders of the old Suez Canal Co. The rest of the money will be kept by the Egyptians for operating expenses and profits.

3. Freedom of shipping will be guaranteed by reaffirmation of the 1888 Constantinople convention guaranteeing unhindered access to the canal. The convention may be revised later but Hammarskjöld was reported considering it adequate in its present form.

Dave Beck Stirs Young Lady's Ire
WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP)—As Dave Beck left the Senate rackets hearing room for the noon recess today, a young woman grabbed his shoulder, swung him around and said, her eyes flashing:

"I never saw such a liar in my life."

Beck smiled and said "Thank you for your courtesy."

The girl identified herself to newsmen as Lois Hjorth, a stewardess for Northwest Airlines.

Dulles Moves To Keep U.N. Force In Gaza

Secretary Insists Egypt Lacks Right To Order Pullout

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles moved today to keep Egypt from arbitrarily kicking out United Nations peace troops and to avoid a shooting showdown in the Gulf of Aqaba.

Dulles told his news conference: 1. Egypt has no right at this time to order withdrawal of the U.N. Emergency Force.

2. The United States will ask the United Nations to seek an advisory opinion from the World Court on whether the Straits of Tiran, which form the narrow mouth of the Gulf of Aqaba, embrace international waters.

Dulles made his statements during a 45-minute questioning, in which he also said he is cautiously optimistic about U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld's Cairo talks.

No Report From Dag
Dulles said he has no interim report from Hammarskjöld on the talks with Egypt's President Nasser. But he said Hammarskjöld soon will be reporting to the U.N. on efforts to plan the future of the Suez Canal.

Dulles underwent questioning also on the U.S.-British talks at Bermuda, which ended last Sunday. In response, he declared:

1. It seemed unprofitable to try to reach a formal arrangement for a common U.S.-British policy toward the Middle East. But, he said, hope for such was made more likely during long, informal talks.

2. The U.S.-British practice of coordinating systems for warnings of possible Soviet attack was reviewed, but not changed substantially.

Missiles-For-Allies Plan
3. In time, France and other U.S. allies will be outfitted with guided missiles and similar modern weapons, but as a practical matter plans immediately call for starting only with Britain.

Dulles told reporters the United States believes the Egypt possesses no belligerent rights under the 1949 Palestine truce.

He said the United States also believes that, under the Feb. 2, U.N. resolutions, the U.N. troops should be stationed on both Egyptian and Israeli sides of the truce line.

Peck Guilty Of Contempt
WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP)—Seymour Peck, 39, a New York newspaperman, was convicted today of contempt of Congress.

A U.S. Dist. Court jury deliberated only 30 minutes before returning its verdict that Peck deliberately and intentionally refused to answer five questions before the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee Jan. 5, 1956.

Peck had acknowledged then that he had been a Communist in the past, but had refused to name fellow members.

Peck said he severed Communist ties several years before he became a copy editor of the New York Times Sunday Magazine.

Peck's attorneys, Telford Taylor and Joseph A. Fanelli, said they will appeal the conviction.

The maximum penalty for contempt of Congress is a year in jail and a $1,000 fine.

Judge Luther W. Youngdahl fixed no date for sentencing. Peck was allowed to remain free under bond.

Woman Identifies 'Mr. X' As Long-Lost Brother
BOSTON, March 26 (AP)—A Long Beach, Calif., woman today identified a mystery patient at Brighton Marine Hospital as her long-lost brother.

Mrs. Frances Hamilton Kleinmann visited the hospital and identified the elderly amnesia victim who has been a patient there for 12 years as her brother, James William Hamilton.

She said her brother was a British World War I army hero and a merchant seaman.

A hospital spokesman said the patient—sometimes called Mr. X—showed no sign of recognition of his own identity and acted as he has in the past when faced with others who sought to identify him.

The spokesman said there are only the words of the woman to go on at present but added that other agencies may set machinery in his life.

NAMED TO HEAD JCS — Gen. Nathan F. Twining (above) yesterday was nominated by President Eisenhower to be chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, succeeding Adm. Arthur W. Radford. (AP Photofax)

Twining Heads JCS In Defense Post Reshuffle
WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP)—President Eisenhower today ordered the biggest reshuffle of top military leaders since the year he took office. Named to head the Joint Chiefs of Staff was Air Force Gen. Nathan F. Twining.

Twining, a member of the Joint Chiefs since 1953, will succeed Adm. Arthur W. Radford as chairman on Aug. 15. Radford will step down after serving two two-year terms—the longest tenure which the law allows.

Eisenhower also nominated—subject to Senate confirmation—a new Air Force chief of staff, a new deputy secretary of defense and a new secretary of the Air Force.

No. 2 Post To Quarles
These changes were the most sweeping in the Pentagon since Eisenhower replaced in 1953 the Joint Chiefs appointed by former President Truman.

Donald A. Quarles, now secretary of the Air Force, was named to be deputy secretary of defense, the No. 2 position in the defense establishment now held by Reuben Robertson.

The resignation of Robertson, who came to the Pentagon in August 1955 with the understanding he would remain not more than two years, also was announced by the White House. Robertson asked that it become effective April 25.

White Named Air Chief
To succeed Twining as commander of the Air Force, Eisenhower nominated Gen. Thomas D. White, now the vice chief of the USAF.

James H. Douglas, undersecretary of the Air Force, was chosen to fill the secretaryship being vacated by Quarles.

Adm. Arleigh Burke was at the time nominated for a second year term as chief of naval operations.

The White House said Gen. Maxwell Taylor will continue in his term as Army chief of staff until June 29, 1959. The Pentagon said that, unlike the other chiefs who get two-year terms, the Army commander serves "during the pleasure of the President but not for more than four years."

Triplets 89 Today
MARLBORO, Mass., March 26 (AP)—Faith, Hope and Charity—the nation's oldest triplets—will be 89 tomorrow, and their goal today was to live another year so they will be 90.

The triplets, all widows, are Mrs. Annie Faith MacDonnell, Mrs. Ellen Hope Daniels, and Mrs. Nora Charity Murphy.

Herriot, Nazi foe, Dies At 84
LYON, France, March 26 (AP)—Edouard Herriot, 84, the Grand Old Man of the French Parliament, died today.

Herriot was premier of France three times in the 1920s and '30s. He was overthrown the last time because he insisted France should pay a World War I debt installment to the United States at the proper time.

He defied the Nazis and France's puppet Vichy government in World War II and was imprisoned in Germany.

After his retirement from the presidency of the National Assembly in 1953 because of ill health a special post was created for him as the body's honorary president.

Wearing rumpled suits and with a big briar pipe sagging eternally from his mouth, the elder statesman continued to influence French politics after World War II as an early backer of Pierre Mendes-France and one of the early movers for a united Europe.

Union Boss Invokes 5th Amendment

Teamster President Refuses To Discuss Financial Affairs

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP)—Dave Beck, boss of the far-flung Teamsters Union, wrapped himself in the protective folds of the Fifth Amendment today and refused to say whether he took more than $320,000 of union money for personal use.

Beck also declined flatly to say whether he was lying or telling the truth before millions looking in on television March 17 when he said he had borrowed between $300,000 and $400,000 from the union in the last 10 years and repaid it without interest.

The chunky, voluble president of the Teamsters immediately encountered not so veiled suggestions from Senate rackets probes that he may wind up on trial and may encounter charges of contempt of Congress. He also may face punishment by the AFL-CIO Executive Council. He is a Council member and an AFL-CIO vice president.

Beck Refuses To Resign
If he was bothered by it all, during a day-long grilling by a special Senate committee, Beck showed it not at all. He rejected firmly a demand from Sen. Kennedy (D-Mass.) that he hand in his resignation as head of the nation's biggest union.

"I'm personally confronted," he said, "with a situation I'm positive will be disposed of 100 per cent satisfactorily to me when the final days of accounting come in court."

Beck declared he was exercising his constitutional right against self incrimination, under the Fifth Amendment, only on the advice of his lawyers. He did it dozens of times, under a formula his attorneys revised as he went along, when confronted by contentions from the investigators that he:

Used union funds to repay loans from banks, build his Seattle, Wash., home, bolster his own back account, and pay personal bills for such items as gardening, shirts, and expensive neckties.

Labor Consultant Testifies
Committee counsel Robert F. Kennedy said some $85,000 of union money was used to pay personal bills. He said it was channeled through Nathan Shefferman, Chicago labor consultant for business firms around the country and a friend of Beck for some 20 years.

Shefferman himself took the witness stand at the end of the day and testified he paid Beck $24,500 in 1949 and 1950. But he said that was for business Beck swung his way, including $61,000 in commissions on a new book-keeping system for the Teamsters and an unspecified sum Shefferman and his son made as partners in a firm that got the contract for furnishing and decorating the luxurious Teamsters headquarters building here in Washington.

Under questioning, Shefferman also testified that Norman Gessert, a nephew of Mrs. Beck, was on the firm's payroll drawing a salary Kennedy put at a total of $38,500 over the last few years.

During 1954-1956, Kennedy said, Gessert also was an organizer for the Teamsters and drawing upwards of $30,000 from the union.

Shefferman said he didn't know anything about Gessert's organizing job, although he said he had (Continued on page 2, Col. 4)

Americans Abroad Believe Propaganda Hurts Aid Program

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP)—Many Americans abroad feel that U. S. foreign aid spending suffers in some areas because "anti-United States or Communist-inspired propaganda spreads an erroneous impression" of America's motives.

This was reported tonight in a survey made public by a special Senate committee studying foreign aid. The survey covered hundreds of replies to questionnaires sent to Americans stationed in foreign countries.

In some areas, the replies said, the local populace "is entirely ignorant that the United States is assisting them at all."

Duff Not At Probe But Shares Spotlight

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP)—There was nearly as much talk about former Sen. James H. Duff of Pennsylvania in today's Senate committee examination of Teamsters President Dave Beck as there was about Beck's finances.

Duff, although he is Beck's chief counsel, wasn't even there.

Beck never let the senators forget their red-haired ex-colleague.

There was so much talk from Beck about "my advice from Sen. Duff" that the spectators started tittering every time the beefy labor leader brought in the name.

Sen. Ervin (D-NC) put in a comment in one of the exchanges that Beck was "emulating" Adam by "placing the responsibility" on Duff for invoking the Fifth Amendment protection against possible self-incrimination.

Except, Ervin added, that it was a woman—Eve—to whom Adam shifted the blame for eating that apple.

Negro Student Calls It Quits

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., March 26 (AP)—Aurthur Lucy Foster's fight to re-enter the University of Alabama has ended officially.

Negro Atty. Arthur D. Shores said the case would not be pursued further in the courts. She was admitted to the university under a federal court order and attended classes for three days in February last year.

Driven from the campus by a mob, she was ordered re-admitted by U. S. Dist. Judge W. Hobart Grooms on Feb. 29, 1956, but trustees of the school "permanently expelled" her the same day for "false, defamatory, impudent and scandalous charges" against school officials.

She had charged trustees and other school authorities with conspiring with the mob to drive her away from the university.

Shores, on her behalf, attempted to overthrow that decision with another petition before Grooms but the judge held the trustees were within their rights.

Now married and living in Texas, she has said she expects to enter the University of Texas this fall. Her husband is the Rev. H. L. Foster, formerly of Birmingham.

She is the only Negro student ever registered at the University of Alabama.

Ex-Tammany Boss "Jimmy" Hines Dies

LONG BEACH, N. Y., March 26 (AP)—James J. (Jimmy) Hines, 80, one of the last of the oldtime Democratic ward bosses and political kingmakers, died today of a kidney ailment. He had been hospitalized two weeks.

Hines defied Tammany Hall in 1932 to help Franklin D. Roosevelt gain the Democratic presidential nomination over Tammany's own Alfred E. Smith. Later, Roosevelt rewarded Hines by making him patronage boss of Manhattan—and thus the most powerful single leader in Tammany.

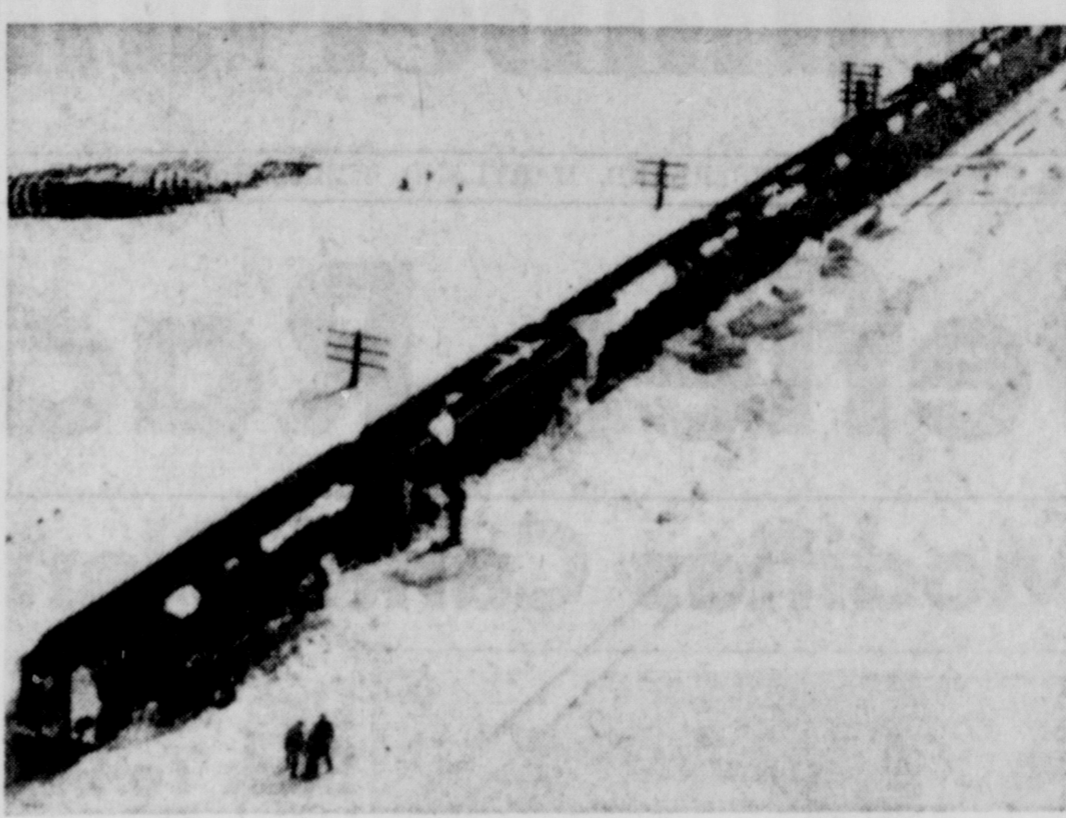

Conversely, Hines was an involuntary booster of Thomas E. Dewey in his rise to become governor of New York and two-time Republican candidate for president.

No Right To Strike

CONCORD, N.H., March 26 (AP)—Asserting "the sovereignty of the state should not be hampered," the New Hampshire Supreme Court ruled today school teachers and all other public employees do not have a right to strike.

Union Boss

seen him at various labor conventions.

The Senate committee hammered away at Beck practically all day and got none of the answers it sought.

Yet he insisted he was not "hiding behind anything," only following the advice of former Sen. James Duff, his chief counsel, in invoking the Fifth Amendment.

Sen. Ervin (D-NC), a lawyer and former judge, commented acidly that it "sounded like the best possible advice" under the circumstances.

Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) questioned in equally harsh tones whether union members who elected Beck their president intended him to take the Fifth Amendment "about money you took out of their treasury?"

Beck's income tax returns are under investigation by the Internal Revenue Service. The way he handled Teamsters' funds is under investigation of the special Senate committee assigned to look into improper labor and industry activities.

And the AFL-CIO Executive Council jumped quickly into action today to consider possible punitive action, once Beck claimed the protection of the Fifth Amendment. The Council, which adopted a code of ethics in January forbidding union officials to take the Fifth on matters of alleged corruption, called a session for Friday morning.

Beck is a Council member and could be expelled. He fought the code and refused to sign it. He had "no comment" on today's action.

Hagerstown Mayor Wins Re-Election

HAGERSTOWN, Md., March 26 (AP)—Democratic Mayor Winslow F. Burhans was named to his second four-year term in a municipal election here today, defeating Republican Charles L. Mobley 5,212 to 4,050.

Slightly less than 50 per cent of the city's 18,789 registered voters turned out.

MPs, State Police Hunt GI Fugitive

ABERDEEN, Md., March 26 (AP)—Military and State Police searched without success today for an armed 19-year-old soldier who escaped from the Army Proving Ground stockade.

An Army spokesman identified the escapee as Pvt. Ronald R. Dusick of Cornelius, Ore., and said the 6-foot-1, 200-pounder beat up a guard and took his rifle and eight rounds of ammunition yesterday.

Dusick was being held in the stockade on a charge of larceny.

Divorcee Kills Photographer

RICHMOND, Ind., March 26 (AP)—A 30-year-old divorcee was charged today with murdering famed photographer Roy Hirschburg 64, because she was jealous of his attention to her steeplejack girl friend.

The accused woman, Miss Ethel Wise, a bottle cap factory worker, drove away after the sidewalk shooting in front of Hirschburg's downtown studio late last night but was persuaded to surrender later.

Her friend, Miss Anne McFarland, 41, stood by screaming after Hirschburg fell to the curb, dead of a bullet near the heart and two in the head.

Orville Conyers, assistant police chief, said Miss Wise signed a statement admitting the shooting.

Prosecutor Bert Keller Jr. said a statement by Miss McFarland indicated the shooting stemmed from Miss Wise's jealousy over Hirschburg's attentions to Miss McFarland, and that Miss Wise had threatened to kill both of them previously.

Miss McFarland had been a receptionist in Hirschburg's studios for three months after working as a steeplejack painter.

Adams' Lawyer, Detective Battle Over Vital Evidence

LONDON, March 26 (AP)—One of Britain's most brilliant lawyers, tangled today with one of Britain's greatest detectives at the murder trial of Dr. John Bodkin Adams.

Defense Atty. Geoffrey Lawrence and Scotland Yard's Herbert (The Duke) Hannam duelled for 77 minutes in a dramatic thrust and slash of court room cross-examination.

Dr. Adams—accused of murdering a rich elderly widow, Mrs. Edith Alice Morrell, by giving her drugs—watched almost spellbound from the prisoner's box as the two battled over vital evidence.

Lawrence ripped into Hannam, trying to trip him up.

"You say you first interviewed Dr. Adams in the evening," said the barrister, "but your deposition says it was in the morning."

The hawk-faced detective looked down from the witness box and replied with disdain: "This is not quite correct. If you will read my deposition carefully you will find that it says p.m." Lawrence peered at his papers and replied: "Perhaps you are right."

"It is not perhaps," said Hannam, "I am right."

Laughter rippled across the crowded Old Bailey court room. For the last six days of the trial Lawrence has been relentless in his cross-examination of prosecution witnesses. He scored heavily at the expense of three middle-aged nurses.

Slaying Suspect Held On Assault Charge

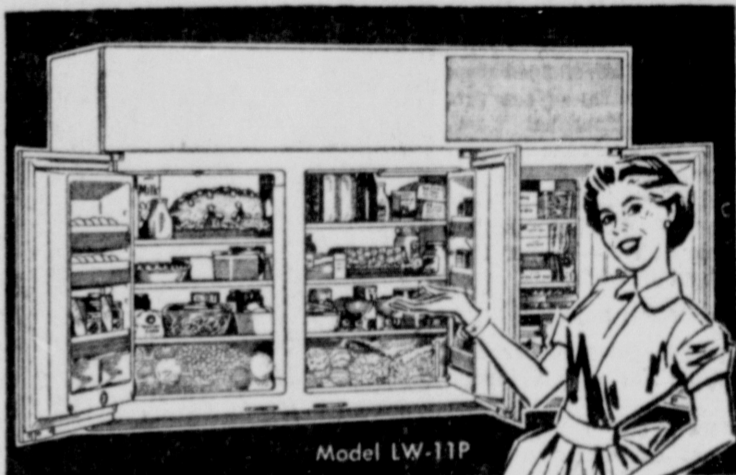

BALTIMORE, March 26 (AP)—Thomas Kearney, 34-year-old ship's carpenter from Dublin, Ireland, was charged with assault late today after police quashed a murder charge because the body of his alleged victim has not been found.

Kearney was arraigned before Magistrate Meyer Cardin and held in $5,000 bail on a charge of assault by striking with a hammer John Brennan Allen, 25, also a seaman from Dublin.

Allen has been missing, and police presume he is dead, since St. Patrick's Day when he and Kearney attended a combination maiden voyage and St. Patrick's party aboard the freighter Irish Maple.

Virginians Contend Scrapping Compact Would Widen Rift

ANNAPOLIS, March 26 (AP)—Virginia legislators told a Maryland Senate committee today enactment of legislation to scrap the Potomac River Compact of 1785 would only "widen the breach" between the states.

They urged formation of a new joint commission to solve conservation enforcement problems which have caused violence on the Maryland-owned river.

Backers of the bills accused Virginia officials of failing to cooperate in enforcement of conservation laws and complained that previous commissions had produced no solution to the problems.

The Virginians contended, with support from some Maryland witnesses, that the courts would not recognize any unilateral action by Maryland to abrogate the compact.

They agreed some Virginia waters had violated prohibitions against oyster dredging and practices which have been outlawed by Maryland. But they said Marylanders were among the violators, too.

Del. W. Taylor Purphy, a member of the Virginia House committee on Chesapeake Bay and tributaries, told the Senate Judiciary Committee "some progress" had been made recently in solving the problems.

He noted earlier testimony by Chairman John P. Tawes of the Maryland Tidewater Fisheries Commission that there had been no major violations in two months.

He also pointed to the Virginia Legislature's approval last year of a $15,000 appropriation for a bi-state conservation program in the river. It was the first such appropriation in Old Dominion history, he said.

Murphy, in acknowledging some transgressions by Virginia watermen and failure by officials of that state to prosecute them as effectively as Maryland would like, added:

"But I do not say that because our past performances have not matched up to our ideals that we should scrap our ideals rather than try to improve our performances."

In answer to a committee member's suggestion that the compact was "antiquated" and a new one should be drawn up, he replied:

"I'm sure that if I told my wife that the marriage vows we took some 25 years ago are obsolete, she would take a slightly different position."

Before Murphy and the other Virginians testified, the committee heard Marylanders advocate passage of the legislation to repeal the compact and to give Virginians full fishing and boating rights, subject to Maryland licensing and regulating provisions.

The historic document gave Virginians equal rights with Marylanders in use of the Potomac.

Dr. Carl N. Everstine, director of the Maryland Department of Legislative Reference, told the committee the compact "has become a cloak of illegality" protecting Virginia oyster poachers on the Potomac.

He said this argument could be used with "justification" if Maryland enacted the pending legislation and had to answer a Virginia challenge before the Supreme Court of the United States.

East German Proposal

BERLIN, March 26 (AP)—West Germany's Postal Minister Ernst Lemmer says the government is considering East German proposals to restore telephone connections between East and West Berlin. East German Communist authorities cut the wires in 1952, saying they had to stop communication between Western spy organizations and agents in the East.

Indian Rights Study

NEW YORK, March 26 (AP)—A five-man commission has been established by the Fund for the Republic to study the rights and responsibilities of the American Indian. O. Meredith Wilson, president of the University of Oregon, will head the Commission. An initial grant of $100,000 has been made to finance the study.

Industry Fails In Fight To Kill Baltimore Tax

ANNAPOLIS, March 26 (AP)—Manufacturers failed today to obtain any relief from the Legislature from the new Baltimore City tax on their machinery and inventory.

The House Ways and Means committee sent a bill that would remove the tax imposed this year to the Legislative Council to study after this session. Along with it went a companion bill which would have given the city authority which it doesn't have now to tax other things.

Manufacturers, along with organized labor representatives, had come to the Legislature as probably their last resort to give back the exemption.

"I am positive that if we're going to get any relief," we're only going to get it from the Legislature," said a spokesman for the businessmen, Clarence W. Miles.

They have unsuccessfully fought the tax before the Baltimore Board of Estimates, City Council, and in a lower court. The Court of Appeals has it on the docket now.

The city imposed the new tax instead of on real estate because there are fewer manufacturers than home owners, Miles claimed.

He said the tax was influenced by "political considerations and not statesmanship."

Robert Fahey, speaking for organized labor, also called it a "pure, unadulterated political maneuver."

He said workers would prefer paying more real estate than "lose their jobs." Fahey and manufacturers argued that the tax will cause some industries to move elsewhere, others to go out of business, and deter new ones from locating in Baltimore.

Fahey figured that the 11½-million dollars raised by the industry tax would have meant an increase of the tax on property of 23 cents per $100 assessment. That would amount to $46 a year for the average home owner, he calculated.

Grads To Be Honored

BALTIMORE, March 26 (AP)—Members of the graduating class of the University of Maryland School of Law will be honored at the annual alumni banquet here Saturday night at the Emerson Hotel.

Chief Judge Hall Hammond of the Maryland Court of Appeals will deliver the principal address.

Conscientious Objector Asks Court To Reverse U. Of Md. Order

UPPER MERLBORO, Md., March 26 (AP)—A University of Maryland junior today asked the Prince Georges Circuit Court to order the university to reverse its directive that he leave college because he is a conscientious objector and refuses to take Air Force ROTC courses.

Kenneth George Hanauer, 24, of Baltimore, stated through attorneys that his two years of alternate service in 1954-56 should exempt him from the requirement that all male students take two years of ROTC unless they qualify under specific exemption.

Hanauer enrolled in the College of Education, and then for two years was a boys' group worker at a St. Louis settlement house

Coal-Rail Bond Study 'Factor'

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP)—A railroad spokesman today told a House committee today that competing forms of transportation should be excluded from any study of how to help the coal industry.

William M. Moloney, attorney for the Assn. of American Railroads, said "the bond of common interest which has existed between the coal and railroad industries... should not be jeopardized in this instance by including competitive transportation within the scope of a cooperative research program."

Rep. Saylor (R-Pa.) spoke up to say this was "strange thinking" by a representative of an industry helped so much financially by the government in the past.

"I assume you mean land grants," Moloney replied, referring to gifts of land by the government in the railroad building days. Moloney maintained that the railroads have "repaid every dime" to the government in various ways.

The committee, headed by Rep. Edmondson (D-Okla.), is investigating proposals for setting up a research program to find new uses for coal and ways of reducing its cost.

"Princess" Selected

WINCHESTER, Va., March 26 (AP)—More college representatives have been chosen to serve in the Court of Queen Shenandoah at the annual Apple Blossom Festival here May 2-3.

They included Miss Marthanne Stephens of Smithfield, Hood College, Frederick, Md.

operated by his church — Evangelical and Reformed — and the Community Chest of Greater St. Louis. His attorney Robert Myers, said this alternate service was arranged with the approval of the student's draft board.

Dr. Wilson H. Elkins, University president, said the university Board of Regents has ruled that conscientious objectors shall not be exempt from the military program. He said the board reaffirmed this last spring in a similar case.

Oliver Stone, also representing the student, read a section of the cadet regulations published at the university which say that the ROTC program is a principal Air Force career.

Col. Robert E. Kennedy, in charge of the university's Air Force unit, testified earlier that the section is being revised to apply only to advanced students, and not to freshmen and sophomores who take the two-year basic course.

Kennedy also stated that the school's Air Force unit would not accept a conscientious objector for active duty.

Elkins defended the two-year basic program by saying it is good for teaching responsibilities of citizenship, discipline, leadership and provides a background in international relations.

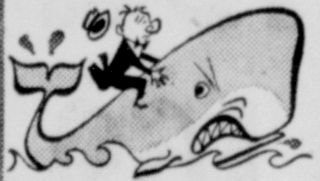

He added that many of the basic students do not and will not pursue Air Force careers.

Hanauer attended Towson State

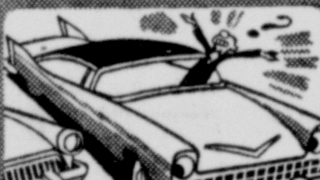

Teachers College for two years before starting work in St. Louis. He said he was asked to leave the university at the end of the semester in January but was granted a continuance pending the outcome of legal proceedings.

A similar conscientious objector case is pending at the university. The objector is identified as Jack Crabill, 25, of Greenbelt, Md.

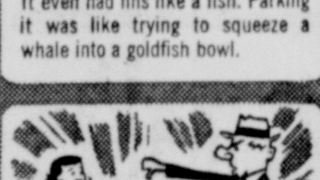

THE MAN WHO OWNED MOBY DICK

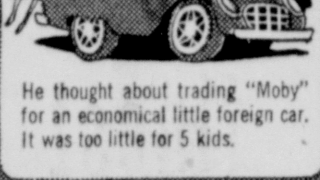

It was actually a too-big car. At gas pumps, it drank like a fish. So he called it "Moby Dick."

It even had fins like a fish. Parking it was like trying to squeeze a whale into a goldfish bowl.

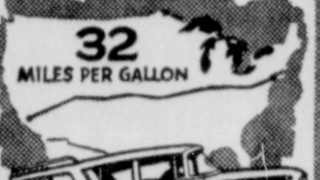

He thought about trading "Moby" for an economical little foreign car. It was too little for 5 kids.

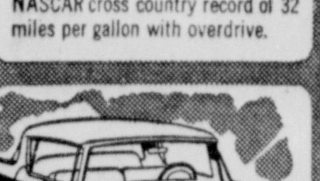

So he bought Rambler, only car with room for six-footers, plus European car economy, handling ease.

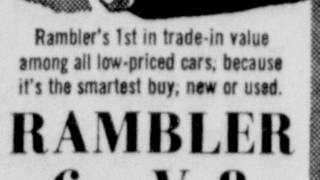

It was a Rambler "6" that set the NASCAR cross country record of 32 miles per gallon with overdrive.

Views On Recreation Plan Are Given

Two members of the Mayor and Council spoke out yesterday on the city's recreation problems with one calling for the council and Rec Board to ask the rec director to reconsider his resignation or appoint a successor as soon as possible; and the other urging a complete evaluation of the recreation setup "to see where we go from here."

Finance Commissioner John J. Long said he was sorry to hear of the resignation of N. Gwynn Fletcher, the city's recreation director.

Long pointed out that city schools close in about 10 weeks and referred to playground programs necessary during the summer.

"This fact makes it important that the Rec Board and Mayor and Council request M. Fletcher to reconsider his decision or to appoint a successor as soon as possible," Long continued. "I intend to recommend to Mayor Roy W. Eves and council members that consideration be given to the possibility of consolidating recreation and park activities into one unit for the Department of Streets and Public Property under jurisdiction of the Mayor and Council."

"Because of her devoted and worthwhile work for many years, this would keep Mrs. Findlay (Marguerite T.), a member of the Park Board, in her present capacity; the Rec Board would have the support of the Mayor and Council for their recommendations; and consolidation would be within Commissioner William H. Buchholz's department."

Long said he saw a possibility of working out present difficulties and attaining a "meeting of minds" on recreation.

Long, who was first chairman of the Recreation Board, pointed out he has consistently favored recreation activities during his tenure as city council member and has "done everything to cooperate with the board."

He said his record shows he is "pro-recreation," and he also cited his recent effort in behalf of a salary increase for Mrs. Eva

Court Ruling Awards Woman Insurance Fund

Chief Judge George Henderson ruled yesterday in Circuit Court in favor of a Clarysville woman in a suit involving a $10,000 life insurance policy.

The facts brought out yesterday show that Mrs. Naomi R. Dixon, the mother of four children, divorced her husband some years ago. Meanwhile her brother-in-law, Walter L. Dixon, also was divorced. He had custody of four children by his own marriage and Mrs. Naomi Dixon took over the care of these youngsters. She has done so for the past 12 years.

Walter L. Dixon worked in Ohio but made his home at Clarysville from time to time. He and Naomi Dixon finally decided to marry. But he was stricken and died. Some time previously he had taken out $10,000 in life insurance, naming Naomi Dixon as beneficiary.

Relatives of Walter Dixon in Ohio sought to obtain some of the proceeds of the insurance. The Aetna Life Insurance Company filed proceedings in Circuit Court here to obtain a legal ruling as to whom they should pay the $10,000. William Geppert and William A. Gunter filed the interpleader for the insurance firm.

Edward J. Ryan was counsel for Mrs. Naomi Dixon and Thomas B. Finan was appointed by the court to represent the children involved.

After hearing the testimony, Judge Henderson ruled in the Clarysville woman's favor. There is an agreement that the money will be used to maintain the eight children. It was brought out in court that Mrs. Dixon had been maintaining and caring for the children voluntarily for the 12-year period.

For centuries, men thought all Greek temples were of white marble, but they actually were brilliantly painted.

Lennon, above, president of Crawford Fitting Company, Cleveland, will be host at a social hour preceding a dinner meeting of the Cumberland Section, Instrument Society of America, today at 6 p. m. at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club. Lennon will speak at the meeting following. He is also president of the Nuclear Products Company of Cleveland.

Dinner Planned By UCT Council

Council 179, United Commercial Travelers, will hold a promotional dinner for prospective members on Thursday at 6:30 p. m. at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Guest speaker will be William Poole, of Roanoke, Va., UCT supreme field director. Reservations are to be in by Wednesday noon and may be made by contacting Joseph Snyder Jr., Howard Harclerode or M. A. McRae. Permission has been given to hold the April meeting on Saturday March 30 at 8 p. m. in the IOOF Hall on South Mechanic Street at which time new officers will be installed.

In attendance will be Mr. Poole as well as other members of the supreme and grand council.

Pinto Span Need Ruled Out By Navy

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners received a letter yesterday from George R. Hughes Jr., minority leader in the House stating he has been notified by U. S. Senator J. Glenn Beall that the Navy has ruled out the immediate need for a new bridge to replace the one at Pinto.

The county has been seeking to have the state take over the bridge, which spans the Potomac River near Allegany Ballistics Laboratory. The structure is a one-lane facility.

Hughes said the Navy has informed Senator Beall that the present bridge is adequate to handle the transportation to and from the ABL facility. The laboratory is operated by the Hercules Powder Company for the Navy.

It had been proposed that a new bridge be located upstream from the present crossing to connect with U. S. Route 9 and thence to U. S. Route 220 in Maryland.

The board received a request from the Midland Volunteer Fire Company that something be done about pollution in Georges Creek, which flows through that community. The fire company letter stated the odor from the stream, especially in the summer months, is bad.

William L. Gunter, secretary of the Official Board of LaVale Methodist Church, wrote the board asking that something be done about a bad drainage problem on a road in the rear of the church.

The road connects with Woodlawn Avenue and Long Street. Gunter said water collects at one intersection and a culvert should be installed for proper drainage.

Mrs. Francis Little and Mrs. Catherine Mace appeared before the board to ask that repairs be made to 21st Lane in McCoolle. The matter was referred to J. Walker Chapman, county roads supervisor. Howard and Melvin Malcolm appeared before the board to ask that repairs be made to Malcolm Road in the Kifer section.

Commissioner James Orr said he had been over the roads in that area and they were in "good" condition. One of the Malcolms said "let me take you over it some time." The two men described the road as being "like a washboard." They also said it was a mail and school bus route.

Harry K. Cline, 33 North Mechanic Street, made application for a position as deputy clerk or bailiff in Trial Magistrates' court here.

Chapman reported that a small wooden bridge on Gramlich Road off Cash Valley Road was broken when used by a lumber truck recently.

The truck was driven by Otis Camp and is owned by the Curry Lumber Company. The company provided the material and three workmen to help rebuild the structure, according to Chapman.

Board Delays Action On Fund

Harold E. Naughton, president of the board of directors of Keating Memorial Day Nursery, yesterday advised Lewis J. Ort, president of the Cumberland Community Chest, that the Nursery board "looks with favor on affiliating with the County United Fund," but that "a definite decision cannot be made until we have had an opportunity to study the contract which is to be presented to us by the United Fund."

Naughton's letter to Ort, in reply to an invitation to affiliate with the United Fund, continues: "In view of the fact that the Nursery has a contract with the Chest which will not expire until December 31, 1957, we would like for the Chest to honor this contract and not dissolve until its obligations have been completed."

Youth Draws Fine For Use Of Auto

A 20-year-old Baltimore youth was fined $100 and costs and received a six-month suspended jail sentence yesterday in Trial Magistrate Court.

Trial Magistrate J. Milton Dick found the youth, Edward Eugene Hamilton, guilty of unauthorized use of a motor vehicle.

The youth and three Baltimore minors were involved in a series of automobile thefts on March 16 and 17. They stole an auto in Baltimore to make a trip to Cumberland, later stole one in Frederick and one here.

Members of the Baltimore City Police Department were scheduled to return the youth to Baltimore later yesterday for a hearing there.

Hospital Bids Received

Bids for construction of a 40-bed Hampshire County (W.Va.) Hospital at Romney were opened yesterday afternoon by the County Court but no decision was made on acceptance or rejection of the bids, according to R. E. Stewart, county clerk.

The County Court, which is the equivalent of the county commissioners in Maryland counties, will meet again next Monday and at that time probably will award the contract.

W. A. Sherman of McLean, Va. submitted the apparent low bid, which was in the vicinity of $610,000. Mr. Stewart was contacted at his home in Romney last night and did not have the exact figures of the bids with him.

Last year the voters of the West Virginia county overwhelmingly approved a $730,000 bond issue for construction and equipping of the proposed new county hospital. L. D. Smidt of Fairmont, W. Va., is the architect for the hospital.

The land for the hospital site is located just off West Virginia Route 28 in the north end of Romney. It was owned by the West Virginia School for the Deaf and Blind, and was a part of the school's farm.

Completion of the hospital is expected by the spring of 1958. Hampshire County residents who need hospitalization have been taken to one of the hospitals in Cumberland, to Winchester, Va., or to Keyser.

Driver Injured In Leap From Runaway Truck

A 26-year-old Hancock truck driver was taken to Memorial Hospital yesterday with injuries sustained when a loaded truck he was operating went out of control on the west slope of Martin's Mountain along U. S. Route 40 and careened into a barnyard.

Edward L. Trumpower suffered abrasions of his right leg and back when he leaped to the highway from the cab of the truck loaded with some nine and half tons of sand. He is to return to the hospital this morning for X-rays.

Police said the accident occurred after a tire blew out on the rear of the truck which was descending Martin's Mountain about six and a half miles east of Cumberland.

The vehicle went out of control when the air line of the braking system apparently was affected. Police said the rear axle and wheels of the rig were torn away and the vehicle slid down the highway for some distance, leaving parts of the truck strewn along the road.

It careened to the right of the highway and came to a stop on the property of George Murray. The truck did not turn over, although it was practically headed in the opposite direction it was traveling.

Investigating officer was Trooper Robert Wolford. The accident occurred about 3:30 p. m. as the truck was being operated west into Cumberland.

$360 Million

The tax bill drawn up by the Senate contemplates using $7,200,000 for school teacher pay against 10½ million through the House's income tax proposal.

No County Shaving

The Senate committee knocked out entirely a provision in Gov. McKeldin's original tobacco tax bill that counties and Baltimore City would share in the state's collection.

It levied only the 2 cent state share of the 5-cent cigarette tax he proposed and scaled down the formula for cigar taxes, which McKeldin had proposed range from 2 cents to 4 cents on cigars costing above 7 cents.

Under the committee plan, cigars costing between 7 and 15 cents would be taxed 1 cent, those between 15 and 30 cents would be taxed 2 cents, and all those over 30 cents would be taxed 3 cents.

It left intact his proposal to tax packaged tobacco 1 cent for each 20 cents cost.

The rewritten bills does not affect any local tobacco taxes now on the books in Baltimore City and some of the larger counties. The state tax would be applied on top of these.

Would Fall Short

Boone said the income tax proposal will fall about a million dollars short of original plans for the pay boost. He said to overcome this an item of $1,600,000 for pension payments would be held off for a year. Boone said it will not be needed next fiscal year.

In floor action today, the House completed enactment of a bill to require all truckers using Maryland highways to pay the equivalent of a 6-cents per gallon state tax on gasoline for miles traveled. If they buy gasoline in the state it is deductible. The bill is aimed at trucks tanking up in neighboring states and driving through Maryland without any tax benefit to the state for use of highways.

The House also approved one measure to crack down on motor vehicle drivers, but killed another. It sent to passage stage a stiff proposal to suspend and revoke licenses for violations. One speeding conviction would cost loss of license for 15 days, two convictions 30 days, three months for the third and one year for four.

The delegates rejected empowering the governor to direct the State Police to set up road blocks, stop all motorists and check their vehicles and papers.

House Approves

In regard to the daylight savings bill, William H. Lemmert, president of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners, reports the County Commissioners may consider extending the fast time period to the last of October.

As the bill does not become effective until June, the board cannot act on making DST come in on the last Sunday in March instead of the final Sunday in April.

Lemmert said the board can act on extending the fast time to the last of October by considering the matter by September 15.

He pointed to the clause in the bill that stipulates the time period could be extended if there is "confusion."

The board president pointed to the confusion that existed last fall between the last Sundays in September and October.

Allegany County went back to Eastern Standard Time at the end of September while the main cities of the east stayed on fast time until the end of October.

Equity Suits Filed

Two equity suits were filed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court. The bills of complaint were titled Betty Humbertson vs. Frances Humbertson and Jean Ruth Paugh vs. Donald Lee Paugh.

City Officials Will Discuss Health Budget

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday invited the Mayor and City Council of Cumberland to meet with the county board at the Court House at 11 a. m. April 2 to discuss the Health Department budget for the fiscal year which starts July 1.

Under the Case Plan evolved last year the county is assuming a larger share of the expenses of operating the Health Department. For instance during the current fiscal year the County Health Department budget is $40,483.16 and the City Health Department budget $33,500 plus $540 for clinics.

In the fiscal year which started July 1, 1955, the County Health Department budget was $35,877.61 and the City Health Department budget was $37,000.

Congress Can Help Unions Clean Up

The Senate Select Committee continues to paint a sensational picture of an unholy alliance uniting officials of the Teamsters Union, the underworld and cynical politicians. This exposure is of particular interest to the people of Oregon, who have been victimized, and to the hogtied rank and file of the Teamsters, who have long been deprived of any effective say about what their "labor leaders" did with their dues and assessments.

But these hearings are more than an exposure. They also show the need for federal legislation. Dave Beck, president of the Teamsters, has been getting a $50,000 salary, plus an expense account which enables him to take trips to Europe whenever he takes a notion. The union bought a house from him for $163,000 and let him live in it rent-free, surrounded by $100,000 worth of furnishings. He "borrowed" between $300,000 and $400,000 from the union, interest-free. The interest at 4 per cent on $300,000 is $12,000 a year.

Any member of the union who opposes such happy-go-lucky use of union funds is subject to expulsion.

What can Congress do about this sort of thing? The men who wrote the Taft-Hartley Act thought that Congress should not interfere in the internal affairs of unions. If the members wanted to be exploited and terrorized, they should have the privilege. The current hearings show that this was leaning backward.

It is perfectly proper to require that unions be run in such a manner that members who object to such practices can fight them and lick them. Legislation is needed to protect the right of union members to run their own organizations.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Loads Of Letters

Since I got off my punditic horse to discuss the affairs of the young, they have been going for me good and proper, telling me of my ignorance of things important and how a square cannot be expected to understand anything. I am, however, pleased to know that so many of these teenagers read the newspapers because after all, they will some day grow up and get married and even become old. And their kids will regard them as either squares or morons, depending upon what happens to them during the interval.

One young lady of 17 does not think I am old yet, that is, if I am not over 50. This girl must have gone to a progressive school because she writes:

"... The schools nowadays teach the children to express themselves. And they sure do. They tell their parents what to do and sometimes where to go. And to be truthful about it the teachers don't know much more about teaching school than their pupils."

Another young lady of 14 writes that she considers herself fairly intelligent. But she has this to say about her favorite, Elvis:

"... I am not trying to prove that Elvis is the greatest thing the world has ever known but I am saying that he is by far one of the greatest entertainment personalities ever and the greatest inspiration young people have had to follow in a long while. What I am saying is that when the history of our century is written there should be a nice fat chapter or two devoted to the great Mr. Elvis Presley..."

It is too bad that the President of the United States is not the source of such devotion and admiration amounting almost to adoration. Of a child of 14, one expects a romantic view of life, a glorification of an heroic personality. But not this child. She is practical. She says:

"I will tell you—Elvis is an inspiration to strive for a high goal. He shows America's youth that nothing is impossible. What could seem more impossible than a poor Tennessee truck driver becoming a millionaire within one year? These teenagers who love Elvis feel that whatever trade they plan to enter they can reach the top of the heap. Therefore they do not strive to be just a minimum salaried employee, they strive to be a highly paid employer."

There is a materialistic interpretation of human development. Way back in the days when Elbert Hubbard was writing his "Little Journeys," such men as Andrew Carnegie, George Westinghouse, J. P. Morgan and other rough and ready souls were extolled for their ability to earn money by concentration on invention and organization. Horatio Alger wrote his guide-books to success, the easiest road to it being to marry the boss's daughter.

However, it is something new in the story of man's progress that a yodler becomes an inspiration because he, having been a truck driver, became a millionaire in one year. I believe that even Al Capone did not do it so quickly.

This young lady listened to Tchaikovsky and Mozart but felt "absolutely nothing." Of course, neither Tchaikovsky nor Mozart ever became millionaires. In fact, Mozart had a rather tough time financially. There were no recordings in those days and teenagers were seen but not heard.

I saw a letter to the editor about all this, in which the writer believes that one of the world's greatest anthropologists, Margaret Mead, and I are naive—"amazingly naive"—because we do not yet know "that teen-agers conform not to their parents' morals, but to the morals of their own generation." This is something that needs to be learned by the elders who do not understand why the world seems to be going backwards. For if civilization has any meaning at all, it must be that morality—the revealed law of God to man—is eternal, universal and changeless. I do not know the age of this writer from Oradell, New Jersey, but I wonder if it ever occurred to her that such a codification of morality as the "Ten Commandments," is the symbol of man's progress upward from the tom-tom.

Forsooth, these children do fight for what they believe. But we oldsters need not retreat and leave the world to darkness and to noise. Civilization always wins after a struggle.

Nasser Remains Central Problem In Middle East

By Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Macmillan no doubt accomplished many useful things in Bermuda. But as far as their central problem in the Middle East is concerned, they came face to face with a stubborn fact, which has been summed up in the sadly facetious remarks of a British diplomat and an American official.

The British diplomat: "The only thing Nasser really has to worry about is that maybe we shan't remember him in our prayers." The American official: "There's no short hair growing around the Suez Canal."

The great powers of the West, in other words, are left without truly effective means of threatening or rewarding Egypt's President Gamal Abdel Nasser, and thus without effective bargaining power.

The use of direct force — the last resort — was ruled out when the British and French invaded Suez and the United States pressed them to withdraw with no commitments whatsoever from Nasser. Any worry on Nasser's part that the United States might ultimately resort to force was dissolved when the President said that the United States had no intention of "shooting its way through the Suez Canal."

Nasser, to be sure, might fear that the Western powers may cause the United Nations forces in Gaza to be withdrawn, and thereafter in effect give the Israelis a green light to attack again. But an incident which occurred while the Bermuda conference was in progress should also reassure him on this point.

Information reached Washington, just after Secretary of State John Foster Dulles had left for Bermuda, that French Defense Minister Bourges-Manoury had encouraged Israeli Foreign Minister Golda Meir to believe that French support would be forthcoming in case of a second round. On instructions from Dulles and the President, Under Secretary of State Christian Herter called in French Ambassador Herve Alphand and politely read him the riot act. Since then, the French have hastily backed away from Bourges-Manoury's offer, amidst a spate of diplomatic denials.

Before the Bermuda conference, the British were toying rather half-heartedly with the idea of reverting to a boycott of the canal and other measures short of force, as proposed by Dulles before the invasion. But the idea has now in effect been dropped as impractical. A poll of the major shipping nations has indicated that none of them — except possibly Denmark, and conspicuously not including the United States — would join the British in a boycott.

In these circumstances, it is hardly surprising that Nasser should be tempted to go for broke — to demand total control of the Suez Canal traffic on his own terms. If Nasser demands, and gets, total control of the canal he will have won the ball game. After all, the British joined the Israelis and the French in attacking Egypt just because the prospect of control of their canal life-line by the intensely hostile Nasser seemed to them intolerable.

The canal will be open on April 10 or thereabouts. The moment thereafter when a British ship arrives at the canal may be a historic moment. For if there has been no prior agreed settlement, and the British ship pays its canal tolls, cash on the barrel-head, on Nasser's terms, Nasser will have won his ball game.

In these circumstances, the Bermuda recipe for dealing with the canal crisis was summed up by one official as follows: "We just have to go on hoping that Dag Hammarskjold can persuade Nasser to be reasonable." That hope remains stubbornly alive.

Nasser is under some pressure from his allies, notably King Saud, to be reasonable about the canal. He is also under real internal pressure to make a settlement which would free the blocked Egyptian accounts in London, Paris and New York. And he knows that, if he is unreasonable, great efforts will be made to find ways to by-pass the canal.

Even so, it is surely a strange situation when the great powers of the West must rely on the doubtful reasonableness of the Egyptian dictator, rather than their own power, to get an acceptable settlement of the vital Suez Canal issue. The situation arose because blind folly on both sides permitted the Western Alliance to come apart at the seams. Perhaps the Bermuda meeting will at least make it unlikely that the same thing will happen again.

Longest distance bunkie I ever had was Admiral Byrd at the South Pole. He was parked in the ice six months when Major Bowles decided to beam a talkathon at him.

The Maje whipped up a program of Trader Horn, Believe-It-Or-Not-Ripley, the Virginia Judge, Rube Goldberg and me. A list of chintrappers who could talk the lid off an iron pot.

Self-Examination Best Weapon Against Cancer

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Detecting cancer is everyone's business. Physicians wish that every individual could examine himself at regular intervals, inside and out for early signs of malignancy. The situation would be perfect if he promptly reported any abnormalities to the physician.

This do it yourself maneuver is impossible but there is no reason why it cannot be performed on accessible organs such as skin and breasts. Several years ago a technic of self-examination of the breast was described. Nowadays, millions of women are carrying out this simple procedure and the death rate from the disease is bound to be reduced.

The plan is reasonable and practical. It is well known that at least 98 per cent of women who develop breast cancer found the tumor themselves. Why not detect the lesion early, instead of waiting until the advanced "lump" shows up accidentally during bathing or dressing?

The method is simple and we will send the instructions to any reader who asks for it if a stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

Several follow-ups have appeared. In Iowa, for example, 288,000 women were instructed on this procedure. Of these, 1,300 were canvassed by questionnaire a year later and seven malignancies were found. But only 47 per cent were making the examinations every month.

A similar survey among a smaller group in New Haven disclosed that 77 per cent had performed the examination at least once and 60 per cent were making it a regular habit. A repeat survey several months later showed that only 29 per cent were continuing to make it a routine practice.

It is unfortunate that nature provides so few symptoms in early breast cancer. Finding a "lump" still is the best we can do, and this is why self examination is highly recommended.

N woman can afford to neglect a checkup of this kind because 5 per cent of the female population can expect to develop breast malignancy and 20,000 die annually from this cause. Procrastination is all too common. Only one-fourth of all fatal cases, according to statistics, were reported to the physician in an early stage.

TOMORROW: Aspirin and gastric bleeding.

Charlie Wilson Takes Wind Out Of Pearson's Sails In Secrecy Dispute

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—The other day I went down to the Pentagon with fire shooting from the Pearson eye to have it out publicly with Secretary of Defense Charlie Wilson. He had confiscated my "Nickerson Document" on guided missiles after I did him the courtesy of submitting it to the Defense Department for security guidance and I was determined to show him a few facts about cooperating with newspapermen when they try to cooperate with him.

I came out of the verbal shooting fray with Charlie Wilson a different and defeated man. He took me like Eisenhower took the American people on November 6. He did it with charm and frankness.

He not only took me, but I became something of a Wilson booster. He handles his press conference with more frankness and obvious desire-to-tell-the-truth than any other member of the Eisenhower Administration. He also knew more about the vast ramifications of his intricate Defense Department than is humanly possible for most men.

However, this is getting ahead of the story.

I figured I would take Charlie Wilson by surprise by easing up on his vulnerable side—General Motors. After the press conference got under way I quoted an excerpt from the secret memo for which Colonel John Nickerson of the Army's Redstone Guided Missile Arsenal is going to be court martialed. This is the document which came into my possession—not from Colonel Nickerson—and which the Defense Department confiscated when I asked whether publication of some parts might be detrimental to the national defense.

Colonel Nickerson had claimed that Wilson's guided missile plan to take guided missiles away from the Army and concentrate development in the Air Force, "favored commercially the AC Sparkplug Division of General Motors."

Charlie Keeps Poise

So I asked Secretary Wilson: "I should like some guidance as to what should or should not be classified. Would you say that the statement that your guided missile program 'favors commercially the AC Sparkplug Division of General Motors'—should that or should that not be classified?"

"Well, it is of course a misstatement," said Wilson, referring to alleged favoritism for his old company, "but there is no reason why it should be classified unless it was hung on to a part of a document that in itself was classified."

"Then why did you not return that document to me with such portions X'd out that should have been classified?" I asked.

Secretary Wilson was at some disadvantage. He was sitting with a lot of TV Kleig lights shining in his face, and couldn't see me.

"Are you the man who had the document in the first place?" he asked.

"I am."

"Didn't we release some official correspondence we had with Mr. Pearson about it?"

"You did. The correspondence was not very edifying."

"Well I think that letter is as far as I care to go at this time," observed Mr. Wilson, keeping both his poise and his smile. "It's what our attorneys said should be the right decision to take. As long as the matter is in the court martial stage."

"One of your counsel, Mansfield Sprague, stated to my office the contrary," I pointed out. "He thought the document should be turned back with certain portions X'd out, to which I was quite agreeable."

"We appreciated your bringing it to us in the first place,"

Secretary Wilson said. "And obviously to you it had certain things in it that you thought should have been classified, or you wouldn't have brought it to us."

"Sleep Well"

"And we like that kind of co-operation," he continued. "I think the reason we changed our minds as between Mr. Sprague and Mr. Dechert (who succeeded Sprague as counsel) is that in the intermediate time we found out more about it. We found out who had produced it. As long as we didn't know where it came from and who sponsored it, and that you were the only person that had it and nothing else happened, you would have got it back with the classified parts deleted. But under the circumstances we thought 'Well, that's not the right thing to do.' I don't know whether I make myself clear, but I have tried to."

"You make yourself very clear, and I appreciate that explanation," I said, all the chips having slipped quietly off my shoulder. "It's just a little bit difficult for a newspaperman who has been in the habit of trying to check things that might be classified, and who is worried about it—it's a little difficult to continue that custom, which I think is a good custom."

At this point Secretary Wilson took the wind completely out of my sails.

"You'll sleep well with yourself as long as you do the right thing," he said.

I had a couple of other pungent, political quotes from the Nickerson secret document up my sleeve, but after that I folded. You can't go on arguing with anyone as nice as Charlie Wilson.

NOTE—Colonel Nickerson, who has a fine record as an Army officer, is being tried for writing a memo opposing the transfer of guided missile development from the Army to the Air Force. These memos were then circulated to members of Congress. Nickerson's name was not on the memo which came into the possession of my office and I had no idea he was the author. It contained some data which obviously should have been classified, which was why the Defense Department was asked for guidance.

On The Side

By E. V. Durling

The difficulties of husband hunters in this country continue to increase. Fifty years ago, when your grandma was a bachelorette there were more men than women in the United States. Husbands were easy to acquire. Now there are a million and a half more females than males in this country. In other countries, where women are greatly in the majority, plans for sharing husbands have been discussed. That is two women will share one husband. How do you think your wife would like to share you with a beautiful blonde? Or a lively redhead or brunette? And how would you like it?

No Change In Dates Krich Gravely Ill
Jackets' String 22 George Eskin No. 4
By C. V. BURNS

NUMEROUS CALLS have been received from racing fans inquiring as to when the Cumberland Fair Association will hold its 12-day meeting this year.

Harry J. Barton, general manager of the local association, now in Florida, said before he left that the dates assigned to Cumberland are Sept. 23-October 5. Cumberland has asked for September 9 to 21.

Hagerstown also is dissatisfied with the dates offered, Sept. 9 to 21, and prefers racing in August.

Barton believes the Maryland Racing Commission is awaiting Charles Town's next move before considering a change in dates for Maryland's minor ovals.

MOOREFIELD High School's Yellow Jackets will put a 22-game winning streak on the line when they open their Potomac Valley Conference campaign on April 5 at Wardsville.

Coach Johnny Paugh's teams have won 'em all in the conference since late in the 1954 season.

The Jackets copped the last two games that year, bagged 10 in a row in 1955 and duplicated the feat last season.

Moorefield has won the league championship three times in the last four years.

HARRY GRAYSON, NEA sports editor, reports the Yankees' training camp is without Paul Krichell for the first time in 36 years because one of the greatest of baseball scouts is gravely ill in a Bronx sanatorium. Krich, as he is known to intimates, is 74.

Krichell is credited with discovering such Yankee greats as Lou Gehrig, Phil Rizzuto, Tony Lazzeri and "Whitey" Ford.

Paul paid a number of visits to Cumberland in 1931 and 1932 when the Colts had a working agreement with the Yankees and Col. Nelson W. Russler was president of the local club.

We first learned of Krichell's illness prior to the 1956 World Series in a letter from Johnny Neun, who stated that Paul was unable to scout the Dodgers before the fall classic.

GEORGE ESKIN, former Fourth Estate and member of "Cumberland's Golfing Eskins," is No. 4 player on the Swarthmore (Pa.) College golf team which opens its season with Army at West Point next weekend.

"Be sure the result of this match gets into the paper," is a request made by the ex-Fort Hillian.

AL "Dapper Dan" Abrams, sports editor of the Pittsburgh Post Gazette, says the Yankees may give Enos "Country" Slaughter his release or trade him before May 15.

KENT STATE University's baseball team which plays at Frostburg State and Potomac State next week, has a tough 23-game schedule this season.

The Mid-American Conference team also plays Ohio U., West Virginia, Pitt, Marshall, Bowling Green, Baldwin-Wallace, Toledo, Western Reserve, Miami (Ohio), Ashland, Western Michigan and Akron.

Coach Matt Resick's team had an overall record of 10-7 last year and was 5-5 in the M-A circuit. This is his ninth year as coach.

MEYERSDALE High School has a new head basketball coach in Don Albright, former Somerset High athlete, replacing Dan Campagna, who held the job temporarily last season.

Albright presently is teaching at Salisbury - Elk Lick High School.

LOU BRISSE, former Philadelphia A's and Cleveland Indians pitcher, now the commissioner of American Legion Junior Baseball, will be the guest speaker Thursday night at Fairmont, W. Va., for the inauguration of activities of the newly-formed Marion County League.

Brisse has been commissioner since March 26, 1954. His best record in the majors was in 1949 when he won 16 games and lost 11 for the last place Athletics.

Causey, Robinson Hits Decide, 7-6

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz., March 26.—The Baltimore Orioles cashed in three runs in the ninth inning on Wayne Causey's two-run pinch single and rookie Brooks Robinson's single to defeat Cleveland 7-6 today.

The Baltimore rally offset a three-run spurge by the Indians in their half of the ninth at the expense of Charley Locke.

In addition to his game-winning single, the 19-year-old Robinson also slammed a bases-loaded double and accounted for three singles in a 12-hit Oriole attack against Mike Garcia, Bud Daley and Art Houtteman, the loser.

Cleveland also collected 12 hits against Connie Johnson, Locke and Dave Jordan. Kenney Kuhn lashed a pair of triples and Roger Maris collected two doubles for the Indians.

Nina Kincaid and J. Armentrout paced the Ridgeley scoring with nine and eight tallies.

Martha Catlett, former Fort Hill ace, collected 10 field goals and 22 points to spark the Royal Dairy Maids to victory. Joann Porter, another Fort Hillian, dumped in 15 points and Virginia Ritchie, Valley High star, contributed nine markers. Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, March 26 (INS)—After 15 years on the MGM lot, Joe Pasternak departed bag, baggage and pension today from that studio. He moved into Columbia where he and his partner, Sam Katz, will produce independent pictures.

The first picture these two veterans have lined up is "Plain and Fancy," a musical comedy by Joseph Stein and Will Gluckman which played at the Mark Hellinger Theatre on Broadway in 1955. Arnold Howitt, who wrote the musical, had another play on Broadway called "Shoestring 57."

So far no cast has been assembled by Messrs. Pasternak and Katz.

The large, beautifully furnished home on Mapleton Drive in Hollywood Hills where Lana Turner and Lex Barker lived before their marital troubles has been rented to writer George Axelrod starting June 1.

Axelrod is coming to Hollywood to adapt "The Cat Bird Seat," an original story by James Thurber. I believe it's for Warner. He has taken Lana's house for four months, so it doesn't look much as if she and Lex have any intentions of reconciling. She has said it's all over.

The morning mail brought a typical Flynn letter from Errol who pens: "The way things are going I've got about a year's work lined up ahead — and you know the mere mention of work is prone to give me fainting fits and put me into a state of panic."

"I have agreed to write my life story which is enough to put me (and the readers) in bed — and this week I leave for Mexico to make sure 'The Sun Also Rises' there — as advertised. "Pat (Wymore Flynn) leaves for Spain tomorrow to begin a concert tour. Two years of vocal study has proven, in her case, you never know where talent lies. Incidentally, we are in Arizona now."

What he was doing there he didn't say, which is typical.

The Harper's Bazaar fashion luncheon at the Beverly Hills Hotel promises to be a very interesting event. It will be held next Sunday and the board of directors of Harper's has chosen Cyd Charisse as the outstanding woman from motion pictures; Dinah Shore wins the award for the best dressed woman in television, and Rosalind Russell romps off with the theatre award.

This decision comes from Mrs. Carmel Snow, editor of Harper's and her board of directors. "Wide Wide World" will televise the Beverly Hills fashion show and luncheon.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Pretty Jo Sullivan, the musical comedy actress who will be the next Mrs. Frank Loesser — so they say — was at the Villa Capri with her future husband, who is in town for a few days.

Shelley Winters and her fiancé, Tony Franciosa, threw diet to the wind and ate all the Italian calorie laden dishes at the same place.

Peggy Lee is also making an album for Capitol.

Brod Crawford and Kay failed to get together on a property settlement and now Brod is threatening to live in Italy.

Tyrone Power will occupy Linda Christian's house while he's filming "Witness for the Prosecution" here. It was his house before Linda got it in the settlement.

At the Beverly Hills Hotel at luncheon, Gower Champion, very very thin, was with Marge, his first appearance since his accident. But he's going to do his dances in his first TV show.

Saw Mrs. Perle Mesta and she's had an offer which interests her for her life story.

Before Charlie Morrison died he lined up a list of great shows for the Mocambo—Joe E. Lewis, Edith Piaf and many others. Several big name stars have offered to help Mary by appearing at minimum scale.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

Request Made By Election Supervisors

The Board of Election Supervisors submitted its budget to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday calling for a total of $35,153.

Included was an item of $9,988 for poll workers who will handle the primary election in May 1958. Other election expenses will be $3,650, according to the estimate.

The expense of the general election in November of 1958 will be in the budget for the fiscal year starting July 1, 1958.

Office supplies and expenses the fiscal year starting July 1, 1957, will be $3,025. Salaries are listed at $17,440 and insurance at $300. Capital outlay will be $750.

Victor M. Hebb, new member of the Election Board, signed the budget request and stated that the salaries of three full-time employees will be raised 10 per cent. The budget is also based on the assumption the offices will not be moved. If quarters are moved, the budget will be higher.

A letter was also received from the employees at Sylvan Retreat asking for a 20 per cent wage increase.

They also want three days off in the event of death in the family and an extra week's vacation if none of the 14 days sick leave is used during the year.

In connection with the pension system, the employees feel that it should be left to the individual if they wish to continue in the program.

William G. Barger, director of Allegany County Civil Defense, submitted the budget for the agency for the fiscal year starting July 1, 1957.

Allegany County will provide $4,300, while the state and federal governments will furnish a total of $4,200 in matching funds. Barger pointed out the total is $2,200 less than the current budget.

The Ground Observer Corps is maintaining five observation posts on a standby basis, Barger said.

Local Bank Debits Increase Last Month

Bank debits in Cumberland took a sharp jump in January as compared to the same month in 1956, according to the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond.

Debits totaled $30,606,000 this year as compared to $27,180,000 in January 1956.

Cumberland's increase was greater than that recorded in Hagerstown, Frederick or Salisbury.

Here are test questions all good hostesses answer.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Entertaining Attitude Test

Since playing hostess and enjoying it is one of a woman's most charming roles, good for you if you can answer NO to all the questions in this test.

YES answers mean there's a lack of grace and ease in your entertaining and that you're thinking too much of yourself and the impression you make.

There's also a clue that you're not using your excellent chance as hostess to get to know people better and to make friends of the interesting people you meet.

This is certainly true in worthwhile conversation isn't made important at your house with you taking an appreciative part.

Do you ask people over more often from a sense of duty than just because you'd like to see them?

Do you refuse to invite anyone unless the house and everything involved in entertaining is perfect?

Are you upset when people drop in unexpectedly?

Is conversation with guests largely about mutual friends and figures in the public eye with emphasis on the personal?

Do you leave the television set on?

Do you always plan card playing or games rather than let the evening take its natural course?

Are you in such a flurry over food and service that your guests see little of you?

Are you unhappy exhausted when guests leave?

P. S. "WHAT'S YOUR LINE?"—Horizontal, vertical and diagonal lines make a world of difference in what clothing will do for (or to) your figure! This "P. S." gives you complete information on handling lines to your own best advantage. Write to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper, enclosing 5c (in coin) and a stamped, self-addressed return envelope.

Local Navy Reserve Unit Is Leading In Trophy Competition

With 300 divisions competing for the Forrester Trophy, Naval Reserve Surface Division 5-9, located at McKaig's Hill, has regained first place as of the end of February, according to information received by Lt. Cmdr. Gordon McCrea, commanding officer.

The local unit replaced Division 11-37 of Pasadena, Calif., now in second place. In third place is another Pasadena unit, Division 11-37.

Four more months of competition, including March, remain to be reported and Commander McCrea points out the local organization has as good a chance as any of the top contenders to win the trophy.

The divisions compete for the trophy on the basis of attendance, training, enlistments and similar activities.

Like an iceberg, most of the reef's 80,000-square-mile area lies underwater. A loose chain of shoals, reefs, and lonely islands betrays the stupendous mountain of submerged coral.

On The Line

by Bob Considine

ALLENHURST, N. J., March 26—(INS)—Things were much more to the point here than at the Big Two talks. I arrived home from the Bermuda conference to find the Small Two in plenary session. As in the Eisenhower - Macmillan talks, large sums were being discussed.

"If President Eisenhower gave you a million dollar bill and six months vacation from school, what would you do?" a boy named Dennis asked his sister, who is eight going on nine.

Debbie's brow furrowed seriously for a time, then she began, "Well, first I'd pay some of my bills. . ."

I've been away too long.

This is the first of a series of progress reports on an infernal machine that is taking shape in our garage. It is a Doodlebug, a basic means of conveyance whose charm has escaped me through the years. The builder, a child we know, is constructing it under a denser cloud of secrecy than shrouded the creation of the first atomic bomb.

It is a plywood board six or eight feet long and when completed will be powered, at speeds ranging up almost to seven miles an hour, by an abandoned lawnmower motor. The wheels are by courtesy of a mothballed baby carriage. The Doodlebug is stripped to the bare bones at the breathe! and maybe even a plastic windshield.

"Building yourself one of those Doodlebugs?" a man called out to Dennis the other day as the boy was opening the Pandora's Box of his one-lung motor.

Instantly on guard, since he is slightly below the age for driving internal combustion machines, the boy said, "I have a very poor father who has never moment, but plans for the future are pretty heady. By midsummer, if all goes well, there will be a box over the putt-putt (with fancy holes through which it may own a car. So I am building this for him."

"Poor guy," the man said sympathetically, looking at the cushionless chassis and shaking his head. "I've got an old pre-war Chrysler in my garage he can have for two hundred. If you think he can raise it," Dennis said he would ask.

And so the first secret weapon ever built in this Godfearing community takes shape, its whereabouts and stage of completion unknown to the sleepless gendarmes. The inventor is not saying just when it will be unveiled. Neither did the men who assembled at Alamogordo, N.M., one tense dawn in July, 1945.

The extensive plans for the Doodlebug's paint job (two tone, of course) and hazy dreams of a summer job to pay for the gasoline it will drink so sparingly, include certain emergency escape clauses of a thoughtful and even tender nature.

"I could ride it around Dave Marx's yard, I guess, if the Allenhurst cops say no," the poor but honest inventor mused.

Speaking of possibly bettered use of public highways, a group of Americans leaving Bermuda's stately Castle Harbour Hotel shortly after high noon Sunday found themselves involved in what a British friend identified as a sticky situation.

There wasn't too much time left for them to catch their plane, so they whistled at the line of taxicabs waiting near the door and instructed the bellhops to get ready to load their baggage therein.

"Soddy," the proper starter said. "You can't use the roads to the airport just now. Matter of fact, you can't use any of the roads leading out of here. You see, the prime minister is using them."

No amount of cajoling, no hint of bribery, no dire threat of massive retaliation, could sway his until his blinkin' highship arrived at the hotel 30 minutes late for his press conference.

There will always be not an England but a Bermuda. Which suits me just fine.

Man Needs Two Sets Of Eyes

We are all going to have to grow four eyes and four ears, if network competition gets any worse. More and more, the idea is not so much to entertain us as to distract us from enjoying somebody else. NBC gloats because "Twenty-One" knocks off "I Love Lucy" for a week or two. Or Steve Allen knocks off Ed Sullivan. The idea is not so much to get a rating as to destroy somebody else's rating.

Probably the worst example of this Sunday night at 8 p. m. (E. S. T.) warfare between NBC and CBS. But suppose they both have people on you'd like to watch at the same time? Well, the cure for this, advocated on the air by Peter Lind Hayes on his television show the other day, is two television sets placed one on top of the other. Hayes said he puts a little portable set on top of his big set. On the little set he has a picture on one channel; on the big set he puts both picture and sound from the other channel.

That way you can be enjoying the Allen show, while at least keeping an eye on what Sullivan is up to. The moment the little picture looks more interesting than the big one, you switch channels on both sets. NBC is thrown upstairs; CBS comes down into the parlor, sound and all.

I tried it the other night and it works fine. Sullivan had a trick golfer downstairs on the big set. That, I can live without. Upstairs, NBC had Lou Costello in a telephone booth in what looks like Fred Allen's old sketch. So Costello was brought down into the parlor and sure enough it was that delicious old snout about the guy who was only trying to telephone across the street and can't get there, while everyone else manages to call Bombay or London, without any trouble. If it hadn't been for the double set arrangements, I'd have missed that delightful old chestnut which I love.

However, I scampered back to Sullivan in time to catch Miss Julie London, that throaty little sexpot sing "The Boy on the Dolphin," a song that may not be her dish of tea. Upstairs on NBC, meanwhile, was Gordon Scott, the last of a lone line of Tarzans, plugging his next picture. That sort of thing I can avoid indefinitely. You see the great advantage of the little set on top of the big one—both of them on at once, but only one with sound on—is not only that you don't miss anything you would like to see, but that you do miss some real dogs. You carefully steer your way through that hour, savoring the best of both, and, as I say, saving yourself from listening to some awful junk.

Among other things—this won't make the sponsors of either show particularly happy—you can miss practically all of the commercials. The moment Sullivan starts whining a commercial—and those interludes are as long as the average dog act on his show—the show is kicked upstairs. That applies to Allen's sponsors, too. You can look at them, up there, if you like, but you can't hear them.

Suppose you want both shows at once? That's when you need that double set of eyes. Well, the other night, while Allen had Janik and Arnaut, a dance team in which the woman plays the part of a snake that coils around her dance partner, Sullivan had on Rodgers and Hammerstein giving a preview of one of their numbers from "Cinderella" (which will be presented on CBS-TV this Sunday at 8 p. m. EST) called "Do I Love You Because You're Beautiful." Well, I like that snake act which I find macabre and amusing. But I didn't want to miss the Rodgers and Hammerstein tune which is a very good one. (In fact, the whole score from "Cinderella" is the first score especially written for television which sounds as if it had been written at all.) But, you don't have to hear a snake act, and you don't have to look at Oscar Hammerstein, so I parceled out my ears to one show and my eyes to the other one.

At best it was a makeshift arrangement. Eventually we'll need two separate sets of eyes and ears, maybe three if ABC starts to compete with the others at that time. Naturally, everyone already has two television sets. In fact, I expect any day now the TV set industry to start slyly campaigning for a set in every room, including the bathroom.

The bidding:
 South 1 spade
 West 2 hearts
 North 3 spades
 East 4 spades
 South 5 spades
 West 6 spades
 North 6 spades
 East 6 spades
 Opening lead: Four of diamonds.

West was guilty of too impetuous an attitude in defense of today's doubled contract. Had he employed a simple bit of precaution, his side would have saved a substantial number of points. Although North's continuation to five spades is highly dubious, there can be little doubt as to the soundness of West's double of the final contract. He held two aces, and partner had bid freely to obtain the lead at least once to give West a ruff, which would beat the hand two tricks.

After West led the four of diamonds, East's queen was taken by declarer's ace, and he returned a trump. With the intent of a greyhound in pursuit of the rabbit, West hopped up with the ace, then underled the ace of hearts.

South gratefully won the trick with his bare king and cleared the trumps. He had only to concede another trick to the diamond king to make five spades doubled.

If West hadn't been in such a blind hurry, he could have defended with complete assurance. It was the height of futility to hope for two diamond ruffs. To start with East couldn't be expected to have two quick entries, for the ace of clubs should be assigned to South to justify his bidding. West should, therefore, be satisfied with only one ruff, and if East has made the king of hearts, there is no hurry.

East, knowing that partner has led a singleton, will surely signal as to the method of reaching his hand, and West should permit him to speak his little piece. If he ducks the first spade lead, East will surely show out on the second round and a message will come through.

East will make the eloquent discard of the heart trey, denying the possession of the king of hearts. It wouldn't matter now if West cashed the ace of hearts, or shifted to a club. The defense would sooner or later get their three natural tricks—a trump, a heart, and a diamond.

Beightol Tackles Purse Snatcher

Lynn Beightol, former Fort Hill High and University of Maryland quarterback put his football ability to use on Monday night in Washington by tackling an 18-year-old youth who had snatched a purse from a dime store clerk and fled from the scene.

Washington police said Beightol was walking along a street when he heard Miss Ann Mainer, 19, yell that a man had grabbed her purse. Beightol chased the culprit about two blocks before tackling him. The youth, Robert H. Crosby, is being held on a robbery charge.

House Approves Health Workers' Seniority Bill

Hughes Is Hopeful Senate Will Enact

A bill designed to provide credit for past experience to county and city Health Department workers taken into State Merit System under the Case plan for consolidating health services in Maryland has been approved by the House of Representatives.

And Del. George R. Hughes, minority leader of the House and co-sponsor of the program, said last night he thinks the bill will be enacted in the Senate.

Introduced by Dels. Hughes and Carlton R. Sickles (D-Prince Georges) as House Bill 758, the proposal would amend laws on the merit system to provide past service credit for members formerly employed in county and city health departments.

It provides that persons employed in county or municipal health departments on June 30, 1956, who may be appointed under the State Merit System on or before July 1, 1961, shall be given credit for years of service in the city or county for the purpose of establishing rates of compensation and basic rates for sick leave and vacations.

Non-Competitive Test

The rights would be given the workers after they have qualified in a non-competitive examination and received a job classification.

The bill also specifies that no such worker shall receive any cut in pay solely as a result of the transfer.

Minority Leader Hughes explained city and county health workers, under the Case formula, must go into the state system during the five-year period which ends July 1, 1961.

Under present law, he said, they would have to go in, and qualify, as a new employee.

He said this would be unfair, as many of the workers, such as nurses, have become highly qualified specialists in their fields, yet would have to do extensive studying to pass examinations covering the entire field.

To Protect Rights

Russell H. Davis, state commissioner of personnel, Del. Hughes said, has advised that the examination to be given to health workers will not be competitive.

It will consist, Mr. Davis explained, of questions pertaining to the worker's field after a listing of educational achievements and Health Department experience.

Del. Hughes said he has been working on the bill since last summer, when Mayor Roy W. Eves pointed out the need of legislation to protect the rights of the workers.

He said the State Health Department has promised to aid in the passage of the bill.

County Bills Signed

Governor Theodore McKeldin has signed four more Allegany County bills into law. They are:

House Bill 484—Delegation—To authorize the Allegany County Commissioners to borrow up to $1,200,000 for school construction.

House Bill 313—To authorize the Allegany County Commissioners to raise the salaries of assessors up to a total of $5,200 a year.

House Bill 315—To authorize the Allegany County Commissioners to raise the salary of the supervisor of assessments up to a total of $6,500.

House Bill 739—To authorize the Allegany County Board of Commissioners to fix daylight saving time between the last Sunday in March and the last Sunday in October.

The governor also signed House Bill 742 sponsored by the Garrett County delegation to legalize the 1957 code of Garrett County laws.

The House of Delegates on Monday passed House Bill 805 sponsored by the Allegany County delegation which increases the compensation of Allegany County jurors from $6 per day to $8.

See To Amend

State Sen. Charles M. See reports he will amend the bill before presenting it before the State Senate to include the bailiff with the jurors.

The Senate Monday enacted House Bill 687 sponsored by the Garrett County delegation which

Ellerslie Woman Hurt In Crash

Mrs. Eileen Mowry, 39, of Ellerslie, was admitted to Memorial Hospital yesterday suffering a possible fractured right lower leg sustained in a two-car crash about four miles south of Hyndman on State Route 96.

Approximately $950 damage was caused in the collision, which occurred about 5:55 p. m. on a straight-away stretch of highway.

Mrs. Mowry's husband, Herbert, 43, driver of one of the cars, was not injured, although about $800 damage was caused to his car. Operator of the other vehicle, John H. Willison, 44, of Hyndman, Pa. apparently was uninjured.

Pennsylvania State Police said Willison was traveling north on Route 96 while Mowry was proceeding south when the two cars collided. A passing motorist took Mrs. Mowry to the hospital.

Amcelle Aids Heart Fund

The Amcelle Employees' Charity Fund of Celanese Corporation of America recently made a $600 contribution to the Allegany County Heart Fund. J. Wallace Close, left, chairman of the Industrial Division of the Heart Fund, is shown receiving the check from Mrs. Helen Summers, one of the ten members of the Charity Fund committee. Looking on is Hudson Nix, committee secretary. The company also contributed to the Heart Fund.

Landscape Advice Will Be Offered On Two-Day Tour

Allegany County residents with landscaping problems are invited to participate in a landscape tour scheduled to various points in the county Thursday and Friday, according to County Agent Joseph M. Steger.

Choral Society Music Program Is Announced

The program, "An Evening of Music," by John Duke, a native of Cumberland, has been announced by the Cumberland Choral Society and will be presented Monday at Allegany High School auditorium.

The first portion of the program with Mr. Duke at the piano will include "Prelude, Minuet and Gigue"—from "Partita in B flat" by Bach; "Sonata in A major," Scarlatti; "Moment Musicales No. 4" in C sharp minor, and "Moment Musicales No. 5" in F minor, Schubert.

A number of Mr. Duke's compositions which will be played include "Little Elegy," "There Will Be Stars," "The Bird," and "The Mountains Are Dancing." Martha Fink will be soprano soloist.

Three selections written by Chopin will follow this portion of the concert, namely "Berceuse," "Etude in A flat," and "Etude in G flat," with Mr. Duke at the piano.

Prior to intermission a group of selections of Mr. Duke will include "Love's Secret," "Loveliest of Trees," "Evening" and "The Last Word of a Bluebird." Joyce Zornig will be mezzo-soprano soloist.

Four other numbers by Mr. Duke will be on the program following intermission. They are "In the Fields," "When I Go Out To Lyonesse," "Bread and Music" and "Wine and Water." Charles Sager will be baritone soloist and Mr. Duke will be at the piano.

Concluding numbers will be "Corcovado" by Milhaud, "Sevilla" by Albeniz and "Mephisto" by Liszt. Tickets for the concert are on sale at Syckes Music Store.

853 Sets Of Tags Sold In One Day

Employees in the office of Tax Collector J. Wallace Close at the Court House had their busiest day yesterday since the sale of new Maryland automobile license tags began more than a month ago.

Some 853 sets of the new green tags with white numbers and letters were sold yesterday. Although it was the busiest day this year for the tag sale it did not reach the predicted sale of 1,000 sets. All privately-owned automobiles must display the new tags on or before midnight Sunday, March 31.

Heart Group Will Not Join United Fund

National Unit Fixes Policy

The Allegany-Garrett Heart Association will not affiliate with the United Fund plan, according to Ernest B. Treat, president of the association.

At a recent meeting of the association's board of directors, Mr. Treat said, the question of affiliation was discussed at length, although no formal invitation had been received to become a member agency.

Brian O'Connell, executive director of the Maryland Heart Association, who was present at the meeting, explained to the directorate here that it is contrary to the policy and regulations of the American Heart Association to permit local units to affiliate with the United Fund or other similar single-appeal units. Mr. O'Connell said that with the possible exception of Muscular Dystrophy this policy holds true with all health agencies.

Members of the local Heart board, in sympathy with the idea of a single appeal for funds each year, sought advice from the president of the Maryland Heart Association and also from the American Heart Association.

A letter from Judge Dulaney Foster, state president of the Maryland Association clarified the problem.

He wrote, in part:

"The extensive experience Heart has had with single-package drives... has led to the conclusion that community-wide federation is not the answer to serving the financial needs of the Heart problem."

"The Assembly of the American Heart Chapter representatives can Heart Association, composed from throughout the country, has considered this question at each of its annual meetings for the past five years. They have called for extensive studies, and have prodigiously evaluated all facts of this question."

"The results of these surveys have frankly been disappointing to all who had hoped we had found an answer to multiple appeals which would adequately support our association's needs. In light of these findings and in light of our responsibility to the staggering problem of diseases of the heart and circulatory system, the American Heart Association has had to decide to maintain its independent campaign. We are encouraged, however, to cooperate in voluntary in-plant appeals such as those conducted by industrial institutions and other employee groups."

"This is certainly not to say that Heart is opposed to the principle of Community Chests or to the further development of United Funds. On the contrary, we are most sympathetic to them and are anxious to cooperate in every possible way for their development for those agencies who desire and can benefit by them."

Mr. Treat said yesterday he has advised Edmund S. Burke, president of the County United Fund, Inc., of the policy of the American Heart Association which prevents the local unit from participation.

Welfare Council Formed By Local Child Agencies

The Coordinating Council of Child Welfare Agencies of Allegany County was formed last night at a meeting of officials of various welfare groups and county officials at the Board of Education building.

Mrs. Jennie Graham of the County Department of Health was appointed secretary of the newly formed group which also decided to form a guidance committee to plan the organization's meetings, programs and activities instead of electing officers.

Members of the guidance committee are Magistrate for Juvenile Causes Morris Baron, chairman, Homer Higgins, supervisor of pupil personnel of the county Board of Education, and Mrs. Elinor Westerfeld of the county welfare board.

The next meeting of the council will be April 16 at the Board of Education building.

Fire Department Marks 51st Birthday As Paid Unit

The Cumberland Fire Department marked its 51st birthday as a paid department yesterday and observed it by getting one call, a grass fire on a hillside in the 800 block of Maryland Avenue.

Firemen from South End checked the call, received about 1:52 p. m.

On March 26, 1906, the paid fire department came into existence and at that time there were about 16 men on the payroll, including Chief Thomas Reynolds, who drew a monthly salary of $150. Regular firefighters drew $55 a month.

School Polio Shot Program Moves Forward

The first phase of the mass inoculation of Allegany County school children against polio will be completed next week.

Sponsored by the Allegany County Health Department and the Board of Education, the program has been moving ahead on schedule.

Although Salk polio vaccine is in short supply throughout the country, supplies of vaccine have been arriving here on schedule. The vaccine used in the school program was purchased by the federal government and paid for with federal funds, and is supplied through the State Health Department. It is being offered to all students whose parents request it for them.

The first four grades have already received two shots of polio vaccine from the Health Department.

The record for polio shots during the current program was probably established last Friday when 1,484 shots were given in three hours to students at Fort Hill High School here. Hundreds of more shots were given that day to students at Luke and Virginia Avenue schools.

The program, officials said, has moved smoothly due to the large number of nurses, physicians and lay health workers who volunteered to help public health nurses speed the program to protect the youth of this county from paralytic polio.

Today will move the program forward considerably, as shots are scheduled at Oldtown, Mt. Savage, parochial, College Laboratory, West Side and Parkside schools beginning at 9 a. m. and at Mt. Royal School at 1 p. m.

Following will be shots at Ellerslie and St. Patrick's schools Thursday; Piney Plains, LaVale and Girls Central Friday and SS. Peter and Paul, St. Mary's and LaSalle next Wednesday.

Second injections are scheduled April 8 through May 8.

Ambulance Driver Faces Charge In Downtown Collision

A reckless driving charge has been placed against the driver of an Astor ambulance which collided with another vehicle on Baltimore Street while answering an emergency call Friday night.

The trial for Eugene W. Boyland, 540 Fairview Avenue, on the state motor vehicle code was scheduled yesterday in Trial Magistrates Court but was postponed until Saturday by Magistrate J. Milton Dick at the request of attorneys in the case.

Injured in the mishap were Jacob S. Hanes, 509 Central Avenue, driver of the automobile, and Theodore Porter, 113 East First Street, an ambulance attendant who was riding with Boyland. Porter is still a patient at Memorial Hospital where Hanes was treated for facial injuries and released.

City police said the state motor vehicle code says an emergency vehicle must approach an intersection with caution, even though permitted to "run" a red light.

Club Meets Tonight

The Badminton Club, sponsored for adults by the City Recreation Department, will meet as usual tonight at 7 o'clock, but will use the Fort Hill School girls' gym, as the boy's gymnasium is being used for the Women's Rec Basketball tournament.

$360 Million State Budget Is Enacted

Teacher Pay Bill Status In Question

ANNAPOLIS, March 26 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin's $360,226,620 budget was enacted into law tonight after the House of Delegates beat down attempts to cut out a $50,000 appropriation for the Baltimore Symphony orchestra.

Legislators then turned attention toward a teachers pay raise, with the Senate approving a state tobacco tax as a means of financing and a House committee coming out for a one-half per cent increase in the state income tax.

One of the speediest and smoothest budget enactments in recent legislative history cleared the way for action on the teacher pay and other revenue questions which won't come to a final decision until later in the week.

The Senate had passed the big spending bill last Friday after approving cuts by finance committees which totaled 3 million dollars.

When the House took it up for the first time tonight, Dels. Smelser (D-Frederick) and Lowe (D-Talbot) tried to delete the symphony item on grounds that a similar appropriation last year was supposed to be a "one-shot" affair.

Their motion was defeated 72-37 after Majority Floor Leader Boone (D-Balto County) and Del. Jeffrey (R-Allegany) made pleas to leave the appropriation intact.

Sent To Governor

The Senate then quickly concurred in latest amendments to the budget in the form of a supplement from Gov. McKeldin and the spending bill was sent to the governor's office.

The teacher's pay problem didn't appear to be for quite as smooth sailing. The Senate and House tackled it from opposite directions.

The House Ways and Means Committee switched from its previous decision for a sales tax increase to finance $400 increases. The Senate gave tentative approval to a 2-cent state cigarette tax and smaller levies on cigars and packaged tobacco.

The House method contemplated raising teacher salaries an average of $400, giving higher boosts to principals and teacher supervisors, and included other aid to education.

New bills which appeared in the Senate stripped the matter down to a straight $350 pay boost across the board for teachers and principals. A separate bill was introduced in event enough extra money can be found for a $400 pay raise.

Gives Speedy Approval

The Senate Finance Committee actually stole a march on its House counterpart by reporting out its plan to the afternoon session. The Senate gave it speedy approval on voice vote, with the five Southern Maryland senators and Sen. Northrop (D-Montgomery) dissenting. The bill was set up for final passage tomorrow or Thursday.

The House committee gave the pay increase its formal approval later in the afternoon after discharging an earlier plan to finance it through a one per cent boost in the State sales tax.

Chairman Boone (D-Balto County) said the vote today was 17-12 in favor of the income tax, after an Eastern Shore caucus last night rejected the sales tax proposal 22-1. He said the committee's action is "final," but that efforts will probably be made on the floor to substitute the sales tax for the income tax.

Final action on the teacher pay the state sales tax.

Hughes-Boone Dispute

Boone had planned to bring the budget out this afternoon but ran into a disagreement with the House Minority leader, Del. Hughes (R-Allegany).

Hughes wanted a chance to change the language of a subcommittee report preventing the Health Department from spending $171,169 in state funds for local health purposes.

Hughes said health officials wanted to be allowed to spend it if they "could find the money." Boone said in effect that this indicated the department's budget was padded. "They have the gall and brass to admit they've got fat in their budget," he added.

It was finally agreed to introduce a joint resolution which
